Whiteside Co. Farmer Tried To Kill Girl

DENIED HER COMPANY HE SHOTS HER

Bullet Passed Through Her Neck; Attempts Suicide Later

(Telegraph Special Service)

Sterling, June 23—Earl Schipper, 26-year-old farm hand employed on a farm near Garden Plain, is held in the Whiteside county jail at Morrison on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, following the shooting of Miss Vera Reedy, aged 17, at her home two miles southeast of Albany at an early hour Sunday morning. Miss Reedy was shot in the neck with a 22 caliber bullet, the ball entering the left side of the neck and coming out of the right side, narrowly missing the jugular vein. A second rifle ball is said to have lodged in the mattress of the bed on which the young woman's sister, Alberta, aged 4, was sleeping.

The shooting took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Reedy Sunday morning about 1 o'clock. Schipper is said to have been keeping company with Miss Vera until a few weeks ago, when her parents objected and she informed him not to call at her home again. He is reported to have threatened her on several occasions since.

Borrowed Rifle

At the early hour Sunday morning, Schipper is said to have driven his car to within a quarter of a mile from the Reedy farm residence where he parked it and then walked across the fields to the home. He had borrowed a 22 calibre repeating rifle Saturday evening, stating that he planned to shoot ground hogs. Arriving at the Reedy home, Schipper is reported to have secured a ladder which he placed against the house and then crawled up to the window of the room in which Miss Vera and her baby sister were asleep. Miss Reedy was awakened by an unusual noise, and arising, went to the window to pull down the shade. It was said, as she did so, Schipper is reported to have fired two shots in quick succession, one striking the young woman in the neck and the second lodging in the mattress of the bed occupied by her sleeping sister. Schipper then fled from the scene, taking the weapon with him. Word of the shooting was telephoned to Albany and a posse was quickly formed, which set out to search for the farm hand.

Attempted Suicide

Returning to his car, he is said to have sped to East Clinton to the home of a brother. Soon after his arrival, he attempted to suicide by shooting himself with the same weapon. It was reported, but the shell failed to explode. He then drank the contents of a small bottle of iodine. Another brother at Fulton was notified of his actions, and he in turn informed a deputy sheriff who took the young man to the county jail at Morrison, after he had received medical attention at Fulton.

Miss Reedy was not considered to be in a critical condition today and was resting at her home. It was expected that she would recover shortly in the event that infection did not develop. Schipper had completely recovered from his suicide attempt by drinking iodine today and it was expected that he would be arraigned for preliminary hearing this afternoon on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

THREE CARS ARE WRECKED SUNDAY WEST OF DIXON

No One Seriously Hurt When Cars Collided and Turned Over

Two automobiles were badly wrecked and a third considerably damaged in a wreck on the Lincoln Highway near the Beede Corners Sunday morning about 10 o'clock and a Ford truck belonging to the Brundage carnival company driven by Burton Widdell, was almost demolished. A Studebaker coupe driven by Robert Powell of this city was badly damaged and a Packard coupe driven by James Masterson of Notre Dame university, South Bend, Ind., was damaged to such an extent that it had to be brought to a local garage.

Powell was the only occupant of the three cars to receive injuries. An old wound over the eye was opened as he was tossed about in his car while it rolled over and came to a stop, bridging a deep ditch beside the highway. All of the cars were hauled to local garages and no arrests had been made at noon today. Powell was said to have been driving west and to have turned out to pass the Ford truck belonging to the carnival company in which three men were riding. Masterson was coming east and was about even with the Ford truck when Powell pulled out to pass. The three cars crashed and two rolled over into the ditches. State Highway Officers Church and Roberts of Dixon were sent to the scene and took the occupants of the cars to the county jail after clearing the highway of the wrecked machines. An investigation into the wreck was conducted at the jail and later all were released.

MOST FAMOUS BABY IS A BOY

SON IS BORN TO LINDBERGH'S LATE SUNDAY

Weights Seven and Three-Fourths Lbs.; Has Blue Eyes

BULLETIN

Englewood, N. J., June 23—(UP)—"Charles," it was understood today, is the name selected for the son born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Augustus Lindbergh.

What the middle name of the famed aviator's child would be was not revealed.

Lindbergh went to New York today to greet at a hotel Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who arrived from Winchester, Va. Byrd extended congratulations on the baby's birth and Lindbergh replied with congratulations on Byrd's latest exploring achievements.

A rumor had it this afternoon that Mrs. Lindbergh was insisting on "Charles Augustus" and Lindbergh was holding out for "Charles Morrow." Mr. and Mrs. Morrow, it was said, were not participating in the discussion.

Englewood, N. J., June 23—(UP)—The world's most famous baby weighs 7 3/4 pounds, has blue eyes, curly hair and, yet, only one name—Lindbergh.

The son who was born yesterday afternoon to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh may get two more names today. When the christening is over, he is likely to be known to the world either as Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., or Dwight Morrow Lindbergh, the latter in honor of his grandfather.

Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh gave birth to the child at 3:15 P. M. yesterday—her 24th birthday—in the Morrow home here, a white house on a hill where she herself was born. One wing of the mansion had been converted into a hospital where the nurse and two specialists who attended Mrs. Lindbergh found every facility available.

Today Mrs. Lindbergh and the child were reported to be doing nicely.

Much Secrecy

Seldom has the birth of a child been surrounded by such "crecy." Reporters who waited at the gate of the Morrow home were unable of the arrival of the boy until more than two hours after the event. Inside the home, however, the news was being broadcast. A "friend of the family" called the United Press and gave the news, refusing, however, to supply anything except the fact that the child was a boy, that it had been born at 3:15 P. M., and that it weighed something more than seven pounds.

Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's father, who went through his successful campaign for the Republican nomination for Senator from New Jersey without once losing his calm, judicious bearing, was reported to be jubilant and excited over the birth of his first grandchild.

Lindbergh Calm

Lindbergh, however, apparently retained his customary calmness, and found time in the midst of the excitement to send a telegram to the New York office of the United Press, congratulating Col. Roberto Fierro, Mexican aviator, on his non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City.

All through the night and into this morning messenger boys were bearing telegrams of congratulation to the Morrow home.

FORMER WORKER IN CHICAGO CITY HALL IS SOUGHT

James Forsythe To Be Charged With Death Of Newspaperman

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—James (Red) Forsythe, gun totter and former city hall employee, was hunted today as the man who killed Alfred "Jake" Lingie, Tribune reporter.

Forsythe, whom Judge John Lyle a year ago characterized as a "potential killer," is under a year's jail sentence for carrying concealed weapons. The sentence recently was affirmed by the Appellate Court.

Judge Lyle recalled today that there had been much political activity in Forsythe's behalf at the time of the latter's trial on the gun carrying charge.

"His (Forsythe's) friends among the politicians almost ran me to death to vacate the sentence," Judge Lyle said. "I would not do it."

Forsythe, the police recalled, was arrested in a raid on the Moran-Alelli gang headquarters last December. He was released when he identified himself as an employee of the Corporation Counsel's office. Police at the time, in commenting on his release, said Forsythe was "in the place innocently—he was sent there. He isn't a hoodlum."

Have No Photograph But today they hunted him for murder.

Police said they had no photograph or identification of Forsythe, explaining that no Reguere's Gallery pictures may be taken by police until the high court has sustained convictions.

The police have held persistently to a theory that the murder of Lingie, when solved, would trace back to the Moran-Alelli gang. Lingie, who had a wide acquaintanceship among gangsters by reason of his work as a police reporter, was known to be friendly to Al Capone, whose gang long has fought the Moran-Alelli group.

Search also is under way for Frank Foster, original owner of the gun used in the Lingie murder. Foster, formerly a Moran-Alelli man, changed allegiance some time ago, going over to the Capones.

Some Oddities In Wire News Today From Various Parts

NO LADY GODIVA

St. Albans, Eng., June 23—(UP)—Nobody went blind from eye strain at Lady Godiva's procession through St. Albans' streets to raise funds for a local hospital.

The white horse was there, according to schedule, but instead of being mounted by a beautiful girl draped in nought but long tresses, in imitation of the original Lady Godiva, all the expectant spectators saw was a white toy dog securely tied to the horse's saddle.

Later the promoters of the procession confessed that try as they might, they had been unable to persuade a single St. Albans girl to take the part of Lady Godiva—not even though they promised that flesh-colored tights would be provided.

FIREMEN DONE DIRT

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—The fire laddies of Truck Company 14 have been done dirt by Kenneth Thompson, who said he was from Detroit and probably was.

Thompson dropped in two weeks ago, hungry, and the boys held forth the feed bag to him. They gave him a place to sleep. They were pretty nice to him. Kenneth said he sure appreciated it. He continued to stick around, acting as valet, handy man and semi-official fire fan. He loved his blazes.

But yesterday when the truck company volleys forth in answer to an alarm, Thompson remained behind. When the laddies got back, Kenneth was gone. So were the firemen's clothes and their money.

The next time anybody comes around Truck Company 14 and announces himself as starving to death he may get a punch in the nose in memory of Mr. Thompson.

Country Club Golf Players Won Match

Dixon Country Club golfers won from Plum Hollow golfers Sunday afternoon in the inter-club match in which 15 foursomes started at 2 o'clock at the Dixon Country Club course, the final score being 56 to 32.

Oliver Rogers, Jr., turned in the best score of the afternoon, 34 for each of the two rounds and a 68 total. A return match will be played at the Plum Hollow course, July 13.

A small ladder was placed in the boat and Redenius was standing on this when it slipped and the boat turned over, throwing both men in the water.

The body was recovered very shortly and the pulmotor purchased by Rochelle post, American Legion was used until noon in an effort to restore life, but without success. The body was then removed to the Unger undertaking parlor where Coroner J. C. Akin of Forreston will conduct an inquest this afternoon.

Mr. Redenius is survived by his wife, one son Robert of Rockford, one daughter, Miss Mable at home, four brothers, Richard, John and Waite of Benson, Ill., and William of Peoria, and five sisters, all residing at Benson.

BOY SCOUT, WITH ONLY BLANKET AND KIT, LOST IN SNOW-COVERED MOUNTAINS SINCE LAST THURSDAY

Riverside, Calif., June 23—(UP)—A small blanket and a Boy Scout kit were all that Harold Johnson had today—if he still is alive—in his battle against cold and starvation among the snow-clad peaks of the San Jacinto Mountains.

Scores of searchers for the 12-year-old Boy Scout, who wandered away from his troop Thursday, counted on Harold's Scout training, the blanket and the kit to save off death until they could penetrate farther into the canyons that hides his fate.

BEAUTY

There's beauty in the bird song.
In the voice of muted strings;
There's beauty in the stillness,
And the sound of sea gulls' wings.

There's beauty in the budding green.
And when the trees are bare;
There's beauty in the deep blue sky,
And in the frosty air.

There's beauty in the everywhere,
It's there for you and me.
There's beauty in the what-has-been
And what-is-going-to-be

There's beauty in the country,
And in the city street,
And if we all keep watching out,
We find it at our feet.

Clark-Anderson Nuptials Saturday

The marriage of Miss Beatrice Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Franklin Clark, of 4533 North Lincoln street, Chicago, to Charles F. Anderson, of Chicago, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Anderson of Dixon, was solemnized on Saturday June 21st, at eight o'clock in the evening, in the Mosaic room of the Belden-Stratford hotel.

Sixty-five guests attended the ceremony which was followed by a reception and dinner. Roses and palms decorated the hotel suite.

Miss Roberta Phillips of Western Springs was maid of honor. Miss Josephine Anderson of Dixon, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Marguerite MacKinnon were the bridesmaids.

Dorman C. Anderson served his brother as best man and the ushers were Truman Clark, brother of the bride, and Howard J. Tobin. Mr. Anderson and his bride will take a wedding trip through Michigan and on their return to Chicago will make their home in Rogers Park.

Dixon friends will hasten to extend best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson. Both Dorman and Charles Anderson, sons of Dixon's popular C. D. Anderson and wife, attended school in Dixon. They later graduated from the Kent College of Law Chicago, and both are now promising young attorneys of that city.

Attended Exercises At Dana's Institute; And Visited Friends

Mrs. W. H. Smith of North Ottawa avenue, well-known and talented pianist, has just returned from a delightful visit in Warren, O., and in Uniontown, Pa. The Evening Genius of Uniontown, a daily newspaper, prints the following article pertaining to her visit east. The article on the society page of the paper states:

"Mrs. W. H. Smith of Dixon, Illinois, is the house-guest of Mrs. O. J. Sturgis, of Morgantown street. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Sturgis were formerly room mates and fellow students at Dana's Musical Institute, Warren, Ohio, and have just returned from Warren where they participated in commencement festivities at their Alma Mater. Mrs. Sturgis with her classmate, Mrs. T. L. Warner of Niobe, N. Y., and Mrs. J. C. Rogers of Warren, who compose the class of '80, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation from D. M. I. The remarkable record of a 100 percent reunion on the occasion of a golden anniversary is one never before equaled at Dana's and probably has few equals in any school."

The class of '80, together with Mrs. Smith, were guests of honor at many festivities during the week, including the alumni banquet on Thursday. Dinner was served in the G. A. R. rooms which were beautifully decorated in a theme of gold and white, the three leaf clover design, emblem of the class, representing the class triangle from the three-cornered district, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, being used throughout. Prof. J. D. Cook, head of the wood-wind department of the Dana faculty, presided as toastmaster. Among the speakers was Prof. Lynn B. Dana, son of the late William H. Dana, founder of the school, who is now president of the institute. Mr. Dana has visited in Uniontown, having appeared here in concert a number of years ago, together with other members of the faculty. As a musician he stands among the leaders. He is well known to the general public through his writings and reputation as a pianist, teacher, director, and lecturer. In addition to having the degrees of F. C. M. A. C. M., and M. A. M., he has been honored with a membership in the Royal Academy of Music, London, England. Mrs. Rogers at whose home her former classmates and fellow students were houseguests while in Warren, and Mrs. Warner have many friends in Uniontown, having visited here on former occasions. Mrs. Smith who is organist for the Presbyterian church in Dixon and director of the Dixon orchestra of which her husband, also a former D. M. I. student, was director prior to his death, is visiting the city for the first time. Mrs. Rogers will sail on Saturday of this week for a tour abroad with a party of Cleveland friends. The itinerary of the party will cover ten countries and includes the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

AIDING UNFORTUNATES.

There is a great deal of patient bravery in the world today. It isn't so glamorous, to be sure, as the kind that meets a sudden flaming danger while bands strike up a martial air, flags wave and sun shines down on steel-blue armor.

The heroes are never given medals or page one stories. But their bravery is infinitely more heartbreaking because of its very anonymity.

A man fainted in a factory the other day, due to malnutrition. This isn't unusual. Men and women and children have done that often.

But his story is a little more pathetic than the usual tales. Someone looked into the man's pail to see what he had brought for lunch. Instead of the expected—or maybe not expected—thick meat sandwiches, fruit, eggs and coffee, the searcher found the skins of the potatoes which the man's children had eaten for supper the night before.

He had gone without food quite cheerfully until his strength gave way. He hadn't wanted to ask for aid. He had too much pride. If a man had a family it was his duty to support that family, he reasoned.

The other employees in this man's department immediately took a collection and bought food for him and his family. In most instances it was a case of sharing, not giving, for they, too, were counting calories. To share is infinitely more blessed than to give, we have been told, but it likewise is a harder strain.

Human nature is very kind at bottom and most people are willing to help those in trouble when the cases are called to their attention.

However, a great many people have too much pride to let anyone witness their little tragedies unless the curtain inadvertently swings open, as it did in the factory story.

That is why an impersonal machine which will render assistance without lowering a man or woman's self-respect is a splendid agency through which help may be given to those who have earned the right to appeal, by carrying on when there were only skins of cold boiled potatoes in their tin lunch pails.

The Family Welfare Association of America, a federation of 234 societies in as many cities, recently held a banquet in Boston in honor of its fiftieth year of service. The keynote of every speech centered around a desire to help poverty-stricken and disorganized families get back on the road to self-respect and self-support.

This organization is ceaselessly busy caring for the thousands whose stories of bravery are pitifully shabby and pitifully gallant. We are all willing to help when a direct case meets our attention. It would be infinitely wiser to take such cases for granted and let an agency serve those of whom we never hear. Helpless valor very frequently can run parallel to our paths without crossing it.

RIDING THE RAPIDS.

The young man who went through Niagara's whirlpool rapids in a barrel had a good deal of nerve, certainly; but when you have said that you have said just about all there is to say on the matter.

Since the human race is what it is, the notoriety that a stunt of that kind brings can always be cashed, and the barrel-rider doubtless will be collecting the money in short order. Nevertheless, the thing is just a trifle tiresome to a land which has had a surplus of freak champions such as flag-pole sitters, marathon dancers and the like.

However, this chap does rise above that level. He did have nerve. He did risk his neck. So, probably, the only thing to do is wish him well—and hope that he doesn't have any imitators.

Hoover used six pens to sign the tariff bill. On the assumption, apparently, that write makes might.

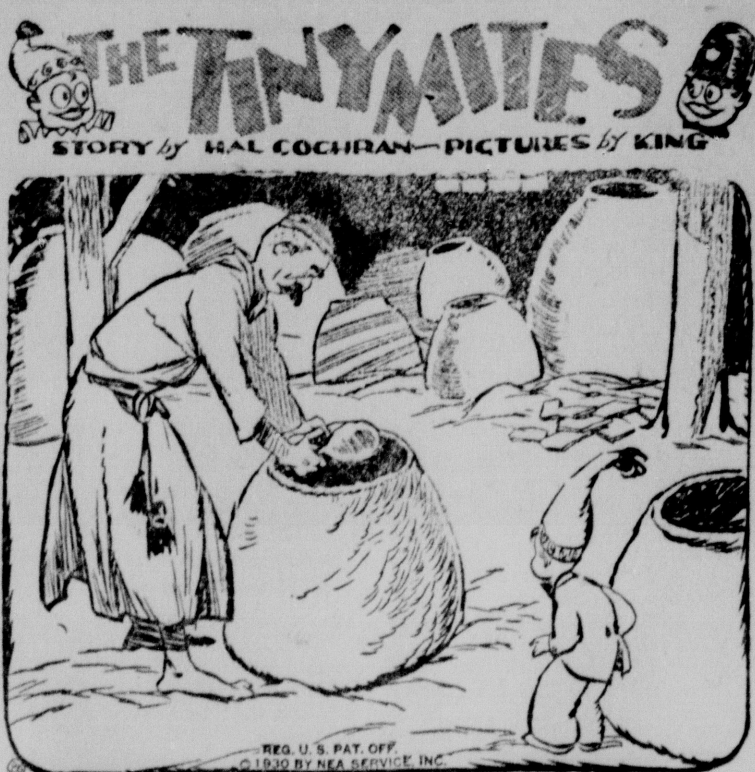

And it must have taken a pretty bold script to sign. Probably the last symbol on the measure was an exclamation point.

If the president plans to converse with those Indian chiefs who have invited him to join their tribes on his western trip, we're afraid he's in for another arms conference.

Today's best wheeze concerns the new club which has been started in the White Mountains for the exclusive use of asthmatic men.

Germany has recommended that milk instead of coffee be used in its army. What you might call carrying their liquidation program to an extreme.

Never before in history, a news item says, has silver been so cheap as it is at present. So we've noticed from hotel cutlery.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

They watched the watermelon boat and Scouty said, "They tempt my throat. I wish we had a big one that we all could eat right here. With my fine Scout knife I could cut it into dandy pieces, but we'll have no chance to try it out or eat a bit, I fear."

The Travel Man just smiled. And then he pleased all of the Tynmites when he said, "Well, boys, I think that I can fix you up just right. For almost nothing I can buy a melon that will make you sigh. Come on right down and help me. Pick the biggest one in sight."

So to the boat they promptly ran. The boatman said, "You bet you can pick any melon that you want. I'm here to sell them all." "Ah, here's a big one," Clowny cried. And then he hugged it to his side. "Hang on real tight," cried someone else. "Don't let that melon fall!"

Right down the dock, not far away, wee Copy said, "Here's where we'll stay until we eat the melon. We will not be bothered here." So everything turned out real nice. Each Tyn had a great big slice. The Travel Man, too, took his share and smiled from ear to ear.

When they were through the Travel Man said, "Well, boys, now I guess we can go right down to a real queer shop that you will like to see. I've visited this place before and there is quite a treat in store. A man there makes fine pottery and is clever as can be."

And so they went there very quick. Said Scouty, "Say! This place is slick." Great urns made out of pottery were standing here and there. The pottery man was hard at work. He said, "Hello," but didn't shirk his daily toil. The Tynmites found his handiwork was rare.

Pennsylvania Penn resolved to make a home for his co-religionists.

Soon after arriving in America Penn took possession of the territory and laid out a site for a new capital which he named Philadelphia. A short time later he made his treaty with the Indians, a move which spared the Quaker settlers the horrors of Indian warfare which befell some of the other American settlements.

Not only Quakers, but persecuted members of other religious sects, soon sought refuge in Penn's new colony, where from the first, the principle of toleration was established by law. The settlement made such progress that when Penn returned to England in 1684, he left behind him a prosperous colony of 7000 inhabitants.

STRIBBLING HAS CARNERA WINNER OF BOUT TONIGHT

Georgia Boxer Gives His Reasons For Picking
Giant Italian

EDITOR'S NOTE: Herewith is an exclusive story by W. L. (Young) Stribbling, heavyweight boxer who has fought Primo Carnera twice in Europe. He picks the huge Italian to win from George Godfrey tonight in Philadelphia and in the following article tells his reasons why.)

BY W. L. (YOUNG) STRIBBLING
AS TOLD TO BERT DEMBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
Chicago, June 23—(UP)—You can bet that Carnera is a better fighter than he is regarded as being and I think he should win over Godfrey tonight.

Godfrey's layoffs have done him no good and Carnera has been fighting. I know he has been battling inferior opponents but he probably has learned a lot. Don't think he is a setup for anyone.

Carnera can fight. I met him twice when he was green and I learned in those two meetings that someone will have to knock him out before he is out of consideration as a possible holder of the heavyweight title.

Unfortunately, both of our fights ended on fouls. I am frank to admit that the low punch I landed on him was low. I could not help it. Carnera is so tall that his waist is up around the chest of most of his opponents. When I lost on a foul to him it simply was a blow aimed at the stomach which landed in foul territory.

But in the fight I won from him I had him down twice and I still believe that the punches which I scored with were responsible for the foul. I had him hurt, when the bell clanged ending the seventh round I turned and started for my corner. Then a charge of dynamite hit me in the back of the head. I'm frank to say that I was dazed and went down. The blow had landed behind my ear after the bell had rung and the referee immediately disqualified Carnera and awarded me the fight.

I think he was dazed and did not know what he was doing. I'm sorry it did not go on for I think I could have won by a knockout. That isn't boasting. Fighters know when they can beat another man.

And when I met him I knew immediately that he would be a great fighter as soon as he learned how to handle an adversary. He is big strong and a hard hitter.

TO BROADCAST FIGHT

Philadelphia, June 23—(AP)—Primo Carnera, Italy's challenger for recognition as a first-flight heavyweight, meets his biggest and perhaps his most formidable opponent tonight when he fights Godfrey, gigantic Negro of Lelleville, Pa., at the Phillies ball park. The bout is ten rounds.

Scaling 245, the black panther has never traded punches with a ring rival of the bulk of the mauling mastodon of Venice. Carnera, standing six feet seven, weighs 268, will also be facing his biggest foe, none of his long list of quick knock-out victims measuring up to the size of Godfrey.

Godfrey will spot Carnera 23 pounds, five inches in height, two inches in reach and, in the matter of age, about seven years. He claims an advantage in fighting experience and boxing skill, and insists the Primo's American victories were scored over second rate opponents.

The promoters predicted an attendance of more than 30,000 and said the advance sale had passed $100,000.

The fight will be broadcast beginning at 9 P. M. Eastern Standard Time over WCAU and W3XAU.

STRIB'S HAND IN CAST

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Young Stribbling, no longer regarded among heavyweights as the boy with a schoolboy fighting complexion, placed his left hand back into a plaster cast today and awaited developments in the leather tossing industry.

Since the "crippled" left hand paralyzed Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian paralyzer, in less than a round at the Chicago Stadium Friday night, the punching Georgian has been veritably showered with offers, but has shoved them all aside, confidently awaiting one that will give him a shot at Max Schmeling's heavyweight crown.

His parental manager, "Pa" Stribbling, has cabled Promoter Jeff Dixon in London a request for a 30-day postponement of his son's match with Phil Scott, scheduled for next month because of the "crippled" hand and, if the English heavyweight reads newspapers and knows what the hand did to Von Porat, the postponement is expected to be granted unhesitatingly.

Although physicians of the Illinois State Boxing Commission failed to discover any injuries in the hand, it did appear to be sore and another plaster cast was ordered. It should be "healed" within a week or two, "Pa" Stribbling said.

Still slightly stunned or stupefied by Stribbling's quick and decisive victory over Von Porat, many ring followers today believed Young Stribbling has rebelled against his father's insistence for defensive caution and has decided to adopt a vicious aggressiveness.

YOUTHFUL AVIATOR

The four-cycle gas engine was invented in 1876. Fifteen years later Daimler patented the first auto for commercial use.

Former Ace of Pitchers Never Sees a Game Now

By PAUL H. KING

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
St. Louis—(UP)—Although Charlie Koenig was among the greatest pitchers in baseball in '87 and '88 while a member of the St. Louis Browns, he admits he has not witnessed a game since 1897.

Koenig, now 63 years old, is classed along with Amos Rusie and others as among the greatest the game ever produced.

The old times, who says the game is as good today as it was in his time, keeps in touch with its progress by newspapers, although his home here is but a short distance from the major league park.

"I simply got over my crave for the game and went to work to build a nest egg," he said in commenting upon his drifting from the national pastime.

"I suppose I have done better than some of the fellows who tried to hang on as coaches and other jobs," Koenig explained as he pointed to a green garden and a yard filled with chickens.

Koenig's career reached its height in 1887-88 when the Browns competed in two championship series. Charles Comiskey, now owner of the Chicago White Sox, was captain of that team.

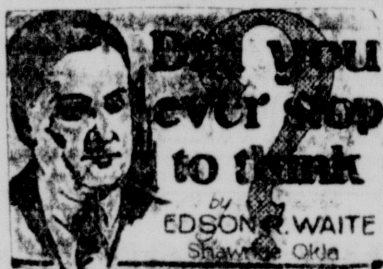

In the 1887 series, Koenig, then but a youth, fanned 19 Detroit batters. Records show that his fast ball was comparable to that of Walter Johnson's.

Pitching in the 1888 series with New York Koenig was defeated two to one, although he was credited with allowing but one hit.

In 1891 he went to Pittsburgh and had as his catcher Connie Mack, now manager of the championship Philadelphia Athletics. Koenig had much praise for Mack's catching, saying he was amongst the best of his time.

"By the way," Koenig asked, "is Connie about the same as he used to be? I'd like to see that old bird. Born in St. Louis, Koenig refused to place himself on a par with Rusie, but said he used to be able to toss "them fairly hard."

He weighs 200 pounds now and commenting upon his diet said: "Lots of vegetables—and I always drank a little beer but never whiskey—this modern hooch must be terrible."

William McIntosh of the San Antonio (Texas) Light, says:

That it is generally conceded that there is no such thing as an independent man or woman. Men of great wealth are dependent upon others for their comforts and safety. Men of humble circumstances are dependent upon men of wealth for the means of employment. All of us, in countless ways, are interdependent upon each other for our very lives and happiness.

That being true, the more we cooperate one with the other, the better will we make our material existence and the happier will be our spiritual lives.

For all the necessities of our lives others serve us and we serve others. Men and women unseen and unknown, have direct participation in our daily existence just as we participate in their lives although they, too, are unaware of the fact that we serve them. The greatest thing in life is to produce a smile. It will travel far. A smiling face and cheerful men spread a happy contagion that makes life easier and better. The true spirit of cooperation is what builds cities, develops communities, relieves misery and suffering and sustains the nation.

Whether we will or not, each of us must be the very force of things, cooperate to some extent with our fellows. When we render this cooperation in fullest measure, intelligently and cheerfully, we contribute our just share to the debt of humanity and do our tiny bit in the upbuilding of civilization.

Mary Lewis, grand opera soprano, made her first public appearance at a "concert meeting" in a tent in the tenebrous section of Dallas, Tex. She later sang in a cabaret and appeared in Ziegfeld's Follies.

ABOVE—Resembling the Antarctic snows from which they had returned was this white storm of ticker-tape and confetti which greeted Rear Admiral Byrd and his party of explorers as they paraded up Broadway to receive New York's tumultuous welcome. Admiral Byrd and Grover Whalen, chairman of the mayor's welcoming committee, are in the first car. Note the paper-littered pavement and the dense crowds that packed the sidewalks and the balconies of buildings. It was Broadway's third and biggest welcome to Byrd, the trans-Atlantic flyer and conquerer of both poles.

BEAR STORIES IN WASHINGTON CAMP MEET SKEPTICISM

Rival Coaches Do Not Take Tales Of Misfortune Seriously

BY TED VOSBURGH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 23—(AP)—Bear stories from the camp of the Washington Huskies met with Skepticism today in the quarters of at least one of the eight other colleges training here for the Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta Thursday.

Across the river on the point where the Navy oarsmen are encamped, the veteran Richard A. Glendon, coach of Washington's arch-rivals, listened to the report that Lawrence School of the Huskies varsity had strained a shoulder muscle in a time trial and was expected to be out of the race.

"This is the first time I ever heard of a man hurting his shoulder by pulling on an oar," said Glendon. "Something is always happening in that Washington camp." The announcement of Schoel's injury came from Coach Al Ulbrickson in apparent good faith and was backed by the information that Schoel would not be in the boat today, his place being filled by shifting Phillips from No. 3 to No. 5, promoting Schmidt from the junior varsity to the big boat and elevating Kaufman to the "Jayvee" lineup.

All of the coaches planned plenty of work for the days remaining before the regatta.

Wisconsin even took to the river yesterday and tore off the full four miles in an energetic time trial.

To "Old Dick" Glendon this race with its fleet of nine varsity eights is at least a seven-crew race.

Washington, Navy, California and Columbia, the defending champion, are looked upon here as the strongest contenders but "Old Dick" thinks one of the others may pull a big surprise.

he tried out today at the Columbia boathouse.

Graf Zeppelin "Went Crazy With The Heat" Sunday

Berlin, June 23—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, which Germans call "she" and have credited with matronly steadfastness, paid the World Power Conference a visit today after indulging in a caprice of the sky in which her role of matron was abandoned for that of flapper.

It was the sun's fault, warmed by its rays at Hamburg yesterday the dirigible's silver nose acquired unusual buoyancy. It suddenly tipped into the air, and in a moment the dirigible itself rose high from the ground with only a few of its crew aboard and with officers and 45 passengers left startled and apprehensive behind.

Captain Hans Lehmann and the passengers watched the ship above them expecting it to be brought back to earth, but while it cruised about over the city, the crew radioed that there was still excessive buoyancy, and that they would be unable to land again.

The ship made off for Berlin and Captain Lehmann followed in an airplane. The Zeppelin arrived at Staaken airdrome and was brought safely to earth in the cool of evening.

It was said that lack of ballast caused the mishap. Three of the Hamburg landing crew made the trip a involuntary passengers, after having been lifted into the air and clambering aboard through necessity when the ship first rose.

ATLANTIC CITY MAYOR AND THREE OTHERS KILLED

Official's Auto Struck
By Fast Train At An Early Hour

Absecon, N. J., June 23—(AP)—Mayor Anthony M. Ruffa, Jr., 52, of Atlantic City and three other persons were killed today when an automobile was struck by a shore-bound Philadelphia-Atlantic City express on a grade crossing here.

The other dead are:
John Wiley, 52, his wife, Lillian, 40, of Ventnor; and Margaret C. Siracusa, 37, of Ventnor, Mayor Ruffa's sister-in-law.
The automobile, Mayor Ruffa's car, was struck squarely in the center by the southbound Pennsylvania Railroad train. The wreckage was strewn over the tracks for more than 100 yards and the bodies so mangled that identification was almost impossible.

So terrific was the crash that the engine to the flyer was disabled.

Mayor Ruffa, reputed to be extremely wealthy, was a powerful political figure at the shore resort, where there have been several efforts to oust him. He had just finished a short rest he took after being acquitted by an Atlantic County petit jury of charges of illegal practices in connection with the placing of municipal insurance.

There are about 360 clocks and watches in Windsor Castle, England, including the first lever watch ever made.

Errors Defeat Lee Farm Bureau Team

The Carroll County Farm Bureau baseball team triumphed over the Lee County nine at Lee Center Saturday afternoon winning by a score of 4 to 1 in a pitcher's battle. Dunseth pitched a good game of ball but with four errors back of him could not keep the visitors from scoring three runs in the sixth and another in the final frame. E. Rahn of the Carroll county crew allowed but seven scattered hits and one run was scored by the Lee county tossers in the fourth frame. Each of the pitchers struck out 11 batsmen. Dunseth and Walters formed the battery for the Lee county team and Sheriff Ward Miller officiated as umpire.

Nurses will find Record Sheets at the B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

The York Is a Six Room House of English Style. Attached Garage One Of Many Features

The lure of the English home becomes more evident when one studies the architectural design of these homes and recognizes the appeal which their rugged, rambling, informal lines produce. A spirit of wholesome livability pervades these homes and this spirit is usually expressed also in the well arranged rooms and the many handy conveniences that aid the homemaker.

The York, which is illustrated in adjacent columns, is one of these informal English homes that entwine themselves around the hearts of the home-lover. The irregular exterior lines, the quaint plank door with its hand-wrought hardware, the terra cotta, baronial ornament in the stucco side wall and the half timber in the main gable, all make the York a desirable home.

Interior Points of Interest

Not only is the exterior quaintly English but the interior carries out the same informal atmosphere. The large living room with its beamed ceiling and the great fireplace, the large master chambers, the attached garage are points of interest.

The York contains six rooms, bath, breakfast nook and attached garage. The home seeker who is looking for plans that embody beauty and comfort will do well to study carefully the plans of this attractive home.

Not Expensive.

Yet the cost of building this home is less than might be expected. The exact figure cannot be stated readily as costs are dependent on local conditions and the final specifications.

However, this is a home that can be built by a family that has been paying rent which ranges from seventy to eighty dollars monthly. Hundreds of families in moderate circumstances could own a home like the York if they decided to assume the status of a home owner.

A Practical House.

The York is not a fanciful creation but as can be seen from the illustration, is a home that has been actually built. The plans gave great promise and the dwelling has lived up to the plans. It is a comfortable, livable home—one that any family can be proud to own.

Pleasant Exterior Lines.

Seen from the street, the exterior lines of the York present a most pleasing aspect. The eye is immediately caught by the entrance with its quaint plank door, protected by a bracket supported hood. The use of half timbers also serve to focus attention on this part of the structure.

The side walls over brick foundations are stucco. The roof is hipped and is a combination of asbestos shingles and pitch and gravel, the latter being used where the roof pitch is light.

Casement windows are used throughout the dwelling. The use of casements is a happy touch for this type of window is preeminently English. The slender muntin bars add character to the window openings and aid the architectural feeling.

Interior Well Planned

The three rooms and garage which comprise the first floor of the building are laid out most conveniently. The living room is reached from the concrete stoop outside through a vestibule with built-in seat and closet.

The living room is large and built in keeping with the English atmosphere of the York. The ceiling of this room which is 25 feet in length and 15 feet wide is beamed. A great brick fireplace is found at the end of the room. At one side are casement windows, at the other French doors leading to a terrace with a quarry tile floor.

This living room occupies the end of the house and accordingly has windows on three sides. Ventilation and natural lighting are excellent. Two chandeliers hang from the ceiling while side wall brackets provide additional lighting when needed.

The dining room is 11 feet by 14 feet and lighted by three casement windows across the front. Two china closets, one in each corner near the door leading to the kitchen, are ample to contain all the china, glassware and silver of the average family.

Kitchen A Delight.

Passing through the swinging door leading to the kitchen, a breakfast nook is encountered. This is a fold-away type and when not in service is hidden in a recess in the wall of the kitchen.

The kitchen is 15 feet 9 inches long. It is conveniently laid out with a series of cupboards flanking the work table and sink so that the housewife takes only a few steps when doing her daily chores.

Two hanging lights and two wall bracket lights over the sink and work table illuminate this room during the evening hours. The kitchen contains five casement windows of the outswinging type which allow a flood of natural light and plenty of fresh air to enter the room. Several electrical outlets are available for such equipment as electric irons, percolators and toasters.

One Car Garage.

From the kitchen a door leads to the one car garage which is a definite part of the dwelling. The floor of the garage is concrete. A floor drain in the center of the room allows the car to be washed within the building and a sill cock enables the water to be withdrawn conveniently. The garage is lighted by casement windows and by a wall bracket for electric lighting.

At the extreme rear of the garage is a recess in the wall of ample size to contain a work bench. Here the man of the house can make minor repairs on the car and do other occasional jobs that the home owner is called upon to complete.

Three Large Chambers

A study of the second floor plan discloses three large chambers, chief of which is the master room with its dressing alcove and two closets. These chambers are all well ventilated, as each room contains at least two pairs of outswinging casement windows giving cross ventilation.

The use of center lighting fixtures and wall brackets is adhered to in this part of the house. The guest chamber and maid's room contain closets.

The bath room is conveniently located with reference to the chambers. It contains a closet for the storage of towels. The tub is modern, being built in. Two brackets over the bowl provide electric illumination for the man of the house when he is shaving.

Convenient Basement

The basement is reached from a stairs off the kitchen. Here is found the warm air furnace which provides the heat during the winter months. An automatic hot water heater furnishes hot water when the furnace is not in operation.

The laundry with its two built-in tubs is located in one corner of the basement. It is served by a floor drain near the tubs.

The fuel room is located in the front of the basement, a steel coal chute off the garage being used to convey the coal to the bin. This room is also floored with cement.

The footing of the York are concrete blocks. The basement windows of which there are five are constructed of steel. Each contain three lights in the area of the openings being small so that no intruders can gain entrance to the basement through the windows.

MAKE THE PLANS OF THE HOUSE ONLY AFTER LOCATION OF LOT IS DECIDED. LOCATION, ENVIRONMENT, EXPOSURE ALL IMPORTANT.

Before making any definite plans for the new home the wise family will select the lot. The type of house and the floor plans depends to a large extent on the lot upon which the building is to be placed. So much depends on the lot, in fact, that no plans should be definitely selected until this very important matter has been settled.

The hillside lot will take a different type of house than the lot which is located on a flat spot. The wide lot, too, calls for a house of a different shape than the narrow lot. The corner lot, again, takes a differently planned house than one located in the center of the block.

Plan With the Lot in Mind

The family who have purchased a building lot 30 feet wide—and there are many cities where the regulation building lot is this width—cannot place on it a rambling, sprawling residence, but must select a cottage with a narrow front, and the rooms one behind the other.

If the houses are crowded in close together the styles of the houses on either side of the vacant lot will make or mar the architectural design chosen. The new home must be selected to contrast with the silhouettes of its neighbors.

For instance, if the houses on either side present sharp gables toward the street, the center house must avoid this treatment for otherwise it would be commonplace and not distinguished in any way. Three gables in a row would give a monotonous look to all of them whereas if the house in the center was constructed with the gables at each end the variation in design would aid the group.

The family who selected their house design before selecting the lot house that faces the west, for the sun and prevailing winds must always be considered.

Exposure Important

The exposure is important and must always be considered. We need cheery morning light for the dining room is the best working light, which means that this room should be placed where the morning light will invade it.

Those rooms which are used most for living should be located on the south, the east or west where the light will be advantageous. Again by placing the living room on the south or west sides of the house, the cooling southwest or southeast breezes aid in giving comfort during the hot summer days.

In the north temperate zone the prevailing winds are from the southwest and these winds must always be considered when planning the house.

Kitchen Gets North Exposure

The kitchen is the workshop of the house and needs a north light which is the best working light. By placing the kitchen away from the southwest winds the odors of cooking from the kitchen will not blow through the house. Not only this, but the hot summer sun will not beat into the kitchen which is hot enough under any circumstances.

Since the kitchen is in use a good many hours each day its location should be carefully determined.

On the other hand, the dining room is used but three hours in the twenty-four and its location is relatively unimportant. The dining room because of its infrequent use is considered by many architects to be one of the minor rooms of the dwelling and the amount of space devoted to it should be small. Its use does not warrant any considerable space or expenditure of money.

For that reason you will find the old fashioned dining room being relegated into dining alcoves or occupying but a corner of the living room. The space formerly used by the dining room is devoted to the living room by these architects.

Plan to Fit Lot

When care is used in choosing the location and in planning the house to fit this location the result is always satisfactory to the family. It is not difficult to design a house, keeping the exposure in mind. No matter in what direction the lot faces, if the plans are made with relation to the exposure, a comfortable living room will be the result.

Zoning Ordinances

In locating the house and garage many communities have zoning ordinances which must be considered by the home builder. These zoning laws state the setback lines for the buildings—that is, the minimum distance from the property line the house may be set. On side streets this is usually less than on main streets. Twenty-five feet is ordinarily the least distance established, but in all cases the ordinances should be consulted before placing the house on the lot.

These ordinances also establish the distance the building may be set with reference to the side lot lines. A building should have the eaves or cornice or indeed any portion of the building projecting over the lot line and it is best to keep the building at least two feet away from the lot line.

Garage Restrictions

If the garage is a separate building and not fireproof, there are sometimes restrictions governing the distance away from the house it shall be placed. The garage must be placed not only with reference to the house but also to the street. Since concrete walks are expensive, the drive should be as short as possible.

When the garage is a part of the house, the ordinances usually state that the walls between the garage and the house shall be of fireproof material. Brick or building tile are often used.

It is well also to follow all of the restrictions outlined in the building code with care for this will eliminate any expensive alterations or adjustments at a later date.

FUNNY SIDE UP PRESENTED TO PLEASED CROWD

Premier Performance Is Given By Several Dixon Children

(Contributed)

Under the able direction of Miss Anne Davies, actor producer, the new musical show "Funny Side Up" had its premiere performance Friday afternoon at the Dement Barn on Fifth Avenue.

From the time the barn doors swung open at 2 o'clock until the beginning of the show the driveway was a surging mass of little humanity—the little children eager for the contents of the show and the pop bottles. From the sounds that slipped through the cracks of the barn door we must assume that they enjoyed both.

"Promptly at the stroke of" seven-thirty, the curtain was pulled literally for the evening performance, which we attended.

The first number on the program, Funny Side Up, was committed by the Carey Sisters—Misses Mae Eichler, Mary Davies and Jeanne Bovey, and the music was scraped out on an even keel by the Davies Victoria, loaned by Davies, Davies, Davies and Davies.

Suddenly we became aware that we were witnessing the work of some real talent and the act wound up with some heavy applause, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Eichler two of three of the Bovey family, Mrs. L. D. Dement and Mrs. M. L. Davies, after which it became general, and they were recalled for an encore.

It is impossible to discuss all of the outstanding acts of this production suffice it to say that from beginning to end it was by far the most amusing and the most complete show of its kind presented in Dixon.

Among the outstanding members of the cast were, Jeanne Bovey, Mary, Anne and Ayres Davies, Mae Eichler, John McGinnis, Richard Redfern, Fred Stevenson, Gordon and David Utley.

Distinguished guests other than those that have been mentioned, were Rev. and Mrs. Stevenson, Judge and Mrs. Harry Edwards, Mrs. W. B. Albright and Gordon Utley.

John D., Jr., Congratulates Son

"Like father, like son" is borne out in this exclusive Telegraph-NEA Service photo of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his son, Nelson. It was taken as the oil magnate congratulated his son upon his graduation from Dartmouth College at Hanover, N. H., the other day. Note the strong resemblance between the two. Young Rockefeller will be married this month to Miss Mary Todhunter Clarke of Philadelphia.

Britain's Sportsman Prince is 36

Here are some interesting closeups of Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David—officially known in England as the Prince of Wales—who celebrated his 36th birthday today, still unmarried. Perhaps the future king's devotion to sports explains it, for he is an ardent and versatile sportsman. He is shown here as he appeared at the recent Dartmoor hunt club races, swinging a golf club in his American tutor, Bobby Jones, and playing a fast game of tennis.

As New York Police Hunted Killer "3X"

The greatest man-hunt in New York police history was in progress as a thousand detectives and uniformed officers searched isolated sections of the Borough of Queens for a maniac believed responsible for the killing of two persons and for threats to murder fourteen others. Pictured above is the lonely spot (indicated by the cross) where Noel Sowley, a radio expert, sitting in a parked automobile with a girl, was mysteriously shot and killed by "a tall, hollow-cheeked man with glittering eyes." Catherine May, who was in a car with Joseph Mazinsky, a grocer, when he was murdered under almost identical circumstances in the same vicinity, is shown at the left, accompanied by a detective, after visiting an insane hospital in the hope of finding the murderer. Descriptions of the killers of both men were similar. Letters, signed "3X" and written to New York newspapers, taunted the police and boasted that thirteen other men and one woman were listed for death.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

OVER NIGHT HIKE.

By N. Abbott.

Last Saturday afternoon, fifteen Boy Scouts of troop 89, left the city proper and went on an over night hike. In the evening a large camp fire was enjoyed, around which the Scouts assembled. The game of "White Settler and Indian" was played and enjoyed by all. At 10 o'clock the Scouts returned to their beds. During the night the weather man played a trick up on the boys and turned what was a beautiful summer night into one of rain and mud. By 3:00 in the morning everything was soaked and leaving their equipment the Scouts were transferred through the rain to a barn where they spent the remainder of the night.

Sunday morning, Scoutmaster Emmert conducted Sunday school services for the Scouts for an hour. At 10:30 the Scouts hiked back to town and ended their hike with their spirits high and the sun shining.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, beautiful artist's model, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with CHUMMY MORLEY, a lovely girl who lost her memory seven years ago when her lover, ALAN STEYNE, went away, and who has never regained her normal mentality. Steyne suddenly returns and meets her, but Chummy at first fails to recognize him. He falls in love with Judith, telling her that he had never loved Chummy and had not known she had loved him. Then, abruptly, Chummy's memory is restored, and when Steyne enters the apartment one day she throws herself into his arms. She takes it for granted she is to be married, but Steyne tells Judith again that he does not love Chummy, and again says that he loves Judith, whom he asks to marry him. Judith refuses him, and goes to pose for the successful portrait painter VINCENT STORAWAY. He introduces her to BRUCE GIDEON, rich financier, who becomes infatuated with her, takes her out to dinner, and finally offers to star her as dancer in a musical show.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XI

JUDY turned up at the hotel about ten minutes late. Gideon was waiting for her in the vestibule. He greeted her with a brisk smile that did not have time to bring out the coarseness of his face, and led her to a corner table in the grill room, temptingly laid out with hors d'oeuvres, and with a big bunch of crimson roses in the center.

"Your friend is here, Miss Judy," were his first words. "With her young man, I suppose."

He pointed to the far end of the room, which was beginning to thin out. There sat Chummy, drinking coffee and smoking, and opposite to her was Alan. Chummy's back was to Judy, but the girl knew what her friend's face was like. A fierce pang went through her, though she asked herself with scorn whether she was such a worm as to grudge Chummy her happiness.

Alan was looking at his companion with his laughter-filled eyes.

Judy took her seat with her back to their table. She affected an immense appetite, and her ever-lauding lips bubbled inconsequently as the big, pale, black-haired man with the self-indulgent face and the cross mouth sat and watched her.

"You shouldn't ask me to these swell places, really, Mr. Punch!" she said. "I've no clothes. They thought I was the scrub woman when I came in—nearly turned me out!"

"You will have all the clothes you want if you accept my proposal, Miss Judy," Gideon answered.

"I don't know what it is," she said. "You know, I've never had a dancing lesson in my life."

"That's easily remedied. I've been looking into matters. With your natural talent, it might take you more than 18 months to get ready."

"Eighteen months!" Judy stared at him.

"Eighteen months of practically constant work."

"And how am I to live, please?"

"That would be a matter of arrangement between you and me. Let me say from the beginning that with me it's purely a matter of business. I'm a business man. I have been interested in theatrical concerns before—not all of them successful."

He smiled at her. There was a subtle difference in it to those first smiles that she had hated, and that had seemed to wish to grasp her in an undesired embrace.

"I am quite willing to advance the money for your training—that is to say, your lessons and your living expenses while you are at work."

Judy was so astonished that she spoke with her mouth full.

"How do you know I could ever pay you back?"

"I am sure you will. I have eyes in my head, and I know a lot about dancing, although I can't dance myself. I'm too much of an elephant, you see. Of course, before we make any plans, I would get you to dance before the person I propose as your teacher—M. Guarenus."

"Yes, I do."

"Not outright? Please, Miss Judy, think it over. Let's say a week. It is more than foolish of you to give up the idea of a career. Here he proved himself very grateful."

"Of course, I know that you could get a job any day in any company where there was dancing to be done, and work your way up; but it's a long job, even for a genius, and there's so much to be got over—jealousy and prejudice and all that."

"I know. I don't really want to think it over at all, Mr. Gideon. Judy was very solemn now, and businesslike, too. "I'm quite happy as I am. I couldn't bear the idea of owing you such a lot of money, and perhaps never being able to pay it back. And—18 months!"

"She made a little face of dismay that was almost comic. She had never studied anything in her life. She had never even tried to concentrate her thoughts for more than a moment at a time. She was all instinct and impulse, like a feather in the wind; her only habit was her big, loving, loyal heart."

"You mean that you could pay for all those things, and that you could make me a success?"

"No—it is you who will make the success," Gideon said.

"But supposing I didn't? You could make me one—that's what you mean."

Gideon made a mistake. "Something of the kind," he said. And then, seeing her furrowed brows, he corrected himself. "I mean, until we get the public to appreciate your art, Miss Judy."

She looked at him with the immense gravity of a child.

"You mean that you would pay for me to be a success. Why would you do it?"

"Because I am convinced that you are one of the world's greatest dancers," Gideon replied. "It is a business proposition, pure and simple."

Judy attacked the ice cream and the forced strawberries that the waiter had just placed before her.

"No, thank you, Mr. Punch," she said a moment later. "It would worry me too much. After all, I'm independent now. I ain't got much money as they say, but I do see life. I never did have any fancy for responsibilities. I should owe you hundreds of dollars."

Gideon smiled at her simplicity. "What about Miss Morley—wasn't she a responsibility?" he asked.

"Oh, but I love her so much!" Judy replied.

At the same moment she looked toward the far corner, and saw that Chummy and Alan had gone.

"You don't refuse my offer, do you?" Gideon asked.

"Yes, I do."

"Not outright? Please, Miss Judy, think it over. Let's say a week. It is more than foolish of you to give up the idea of a career. Here he proved himself very grateful."

"Of course, I know that you could get a job any day in any company where there was dancing to be done, and work your way up; but it's a long job, even for a genius, and there's so much to be got over—jealousy and prejudice and all that."

Did you know this law of Physics?

When you push an ordinary drinking glass upside down into a pan of water, the water will not enter the glass. This is because the air in the glass can not escape.

The same law of physics explains why the Buckstaff Burial Vault can be guaranteed to protect the casket from ground waters for 99 years. It is made of purified Keystone Copper Steel and air sealed.

Many families now consider the vault as necessary as the casket.

evening, Saturday, June 22. Many of the hunters who had planned to enter the drive against crows and hawks last week were unable to get out because of the rains and for this reason the hunt will continue through this week.

Reports from the various captains throughout the county indicated that about 600 of the pests fell before the guns of hunters last week. Several hawks were also destroyed and one eagle was brought down. At the close of the hunt next Saturday and the receipt of the reports from the various captains, a meeting of the Izaak Walton league officers will be held and the prizes awarded to the hunters who turn in the largest number of crow or hawk heads.
